

ABSTRACT OF DISCLOSURE

A cooking apparatus, including a casing forming an enclosure of the cooking apparatus; and a temperature adjusting unit mounted on the casing, with an upper portion thereof protruding from an upper surface of the casing on which food is placed, the temperature adjusting unit exchanging heat with the food to heat or cool the food.